

Look Out!

Washington design community:

A practice act bill to regulate interior design has just been introduced in your legislature.

If enacted, this bill would be one of the most restrictive interior design laws in the country and prohibit the majority of the design community from practicing.

IDPC is the ONLY organization whose sole mission is to protect EVERYONE in the design community.

IDPC members and sponsors -- you will shortly be receiving more information including bill analysis, talking points, legislator contact information, sample letters and all other updates pertinent to defeating this bill.

If you are not already a member, click here to become a member of IDPC. Our new, dramatically reduced membership rates are affordable to EVERYONE who desires to help us protect design freedom.

Sincerely,

Patti Morrow
IDPC Director
